Austrian acts at c/o pop 2023

Whilst you're still sipping your reception drinks, AZE enter the stage (April 27). With their sound mix of RnB, indie, pop and nuances of oriental music, as well as the charmingly playful lyrics, the duo offers and finds space to feel, express and process – for themselves and also for the listeners.

CHRISTL (April 28) are beyond borders, beyond gender & beyond medium: they combine experimental soundscapes and energetic, melancholic songs with their strong and thrilling voice.

With SALÒ (April 29) pop meets punk, anger meets vulnerability and platitudes meet the really big feelings. What comes out of it? Songs about lust, suffering and love in times of late turbo capitalism.

Discovered by artists such as Marc Rebillet, Bilderbuch and Parcels, UCHE YARA (April 29) started touring the very first day after graduating from school. Her first gig was at the Elbphilharmonie in Hamburg, followed by appearances at various tastemaker festivals. Together with the Austrian band Bilderbuch, she opened the stage for The Rolling Stones in Vienna. All this happened before having released a single track.
